The Common Council will hold a regular monthly session to-morrow night, commencing at 7 o'clock. The Committee on Fire Department will meet at 6 o'clock to pass upon a number of applications for building permits. Although to-day is January 1st, Now. Year's Day will be observed to-morrow. The old year has slipped quietly away and the new one is here without giving any warning of its approach, save the noises and festivities of Christmas times.

Not very far back it was quite the proper thing for all persons, especially those who the greater part of New-Year's-Day in callthe greater part of New-Year's-Dayin calling. Now it is different. Very few persons cling to the once popular fad of receiving on New Year's. The custom has given away to various forms of entertainments which mark the opening of another volume of 385 leaves.

The services in the churches to-day will be appropriate, and much of the Christmas music, which was very fine, will be repeated. By the appointment of the Evangelical Alliance a service introductory to the "Week of Prayer" will be held in the Second Presbyterian church (Rev. Dr. Hoge's); this afternoon at A o'clock. Members of all the Protestant churches are invited to unite in this service. Addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. Tudor, Rev. Dr. Kerr, and the Rev. Dr. James Grammar. The meetings which will follow during the week will be held in the Centenary church, and will commence at 6 o'clock P. M.

The Method ats of this city held "watchnight" services at Broad-Street and Union-Btation churches last night and large congregations assembled in both houses of worship to "see the old year out" with songs and thanksgiving.

Rev. Dr. W. V. Tudor conducted theservices at Broad-Street church, while Rev. George H. Ray filled the pulp: t at Union-Station. The feature in the exercises at the last-named church was the "old-time love-feast."

Broad-Street Methodist church, and the following pastors will participate in the order named, at 8 P. M.: To-day night, Rev. Dr. W. W. Landrum; Monday night, Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge; Tuesday night, Rev. Dr. Kobert P. Kerr; Wednesday night, Rev. Dr. W. V. Tudor; Thursday night, Rev. W. J. Young; Friday night, Rev. M. J. Young; Friday night, Rev. Jabez Hall. These services will be in preparation for revival services and the congregations of the respective pastors are earnestly invited to unite with the congregation.
